Why is Learntesting different to other training solutions?

Learntesting is unique in many ways:

-  Leading the commercial world of online learning - a truly innovative learning delivery model
This innovation is recognised in the online training world generally, not just the world of testing. Working in conjunction with some of the most respected providers of online technology, Learntesting has produced the first such delivery model in the world.
-  Learntesting is a complete learning solution
With a service that includes not only the courses, but a complete range of support before, during and after your courses, Learntesting provides not only a successful learning experience, but also a platform to maintain and enhance the knowledge you have gained.
-  Modular and scaleable – supporting the individual and the biggest corporations
With a range of content to suit learning styles and budget, Learntesting is unique in that it can support an individual's learning needs as well as the largest organisations in the world. Learntesting can provide 'private courses' and even 'private branded learning management systems' with flexible licencing options for large-scale users.
-  A 24/7 global support network
A growing network of accredited training providers brings another unique element to the Learntesting service. This means that no matter where you are in the world or when you want to use Learntesting, you know that you have access to some of the leading testing experts across the globe.
-  Learntesting has been around for over 5 years
Learntesting is not just another new online learning course. With a wealth of experience in the online learning business, Learntesting brings you its third-generation platform.
